IST ANNOUCEMENT

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We would like to invite you to take part in the first International Scientific Conference “Intercultural Medical Care as a Challenge for Interdisciplinary Team” which will take place on the 19th and 20th of May, 2017 in Poznan in the Conference and Teaching Center of the Poznan University of Medical Sciences.

During the Conference, the best experts from Poland and other countries will give lectures and presentations. We want the scientific programme to fully show the everyday character of working with intercultural patients. Due to this fact, we hope that you will take part in discussions which will help to present various experiences with intercultural medical care in Poland and other countries and thanks to that, implement good practice in our country.

The Conference is directed to physicians, nurses, midwives, physiotherapists, paramedics, pharmacists, dieticians, speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, healthcare assistants, social workers, government departments workers, lawyers, counsellors, bioethicists, psychologists, psychotherapists, sociologists and all of the other people whose work is connected with the subject of our event.

We invite you to acquaint yourselves with planned sessions and details of registration which can be found on our website.

See you in Poznan!

Prof. Michał Musielak, Ph.D.
President of Scientific Comitee
